

Library Tins - for National Library Week

(Gwen Glazer, Croton Free Library)

Celebrate National Library Week by creating your own tiny library at home!

These craft kits contain everything you need to make a mini-library: tiny books, trinkets, wallpaper, and shelves — plus a sticker and a tiny replica of a Croton Free Library card to remind you of your favorite real-life library. You just need glue and a good pair of scissors.

Keep your mini-library at home or bring it in, and we'll display it until the end of the month!

Supply list:

You need: Glue, scissors

Each kit comes in a cello bag, sealed with a 2" circle sticker, and contains:

- 1 metal tin with a CFL sticker
- 3 sheets of origami paper
- 5 popsicle sticks
- 10 mini-books (vintage, stylish, Style1)
- 6 trinkets (plants, cups, bottles, donuts mine were from a local store but [these look similar], hedgehogs, etc – anything on a 1:12 scale works)
- 1 tiny library card (I printed out a piece of paper with images of our library card, then laminated it and cut them out)
- 2 book-related stickers
- 1 instruction sheet (see below)
- 1 tag with a sticker for anyone who wants to drop off for the display
